The Graduate School of Criminology at National Taipei University (NTPU) was established in 2001 to meet the growing needs of Taiwan’s professionals working in courts, juvenile delinquency contexts, schools, police officers, attorneys and those who work in other judicial agencies. The Institute offers a Master of Law in the area of Criminology and Criminal Justice and is intended to prepare students for a career in research and/or an academic career and to enhance their professional development. The master program combines an intensive study in the social science areas of criminology, criminal justice, sociology, psychology, policing, corrections and public administration with graduate-level study of select aspects of crime and criminal justice. For more information about NTPU and the Institute, please visit http://www.ntpu.edu.tw/english/index.php
